Consignment Agreement

This Consignment Agreement (the "Agreement") states the terms and conditions that govern the contractual agreement between the Seller (the "Consignor") and Serendipity Bridal Collections (Serendipity, the "Consignee"), who agree to be bound by this Agreement.

The Consignor owns right and title to the consigned item(s). The Consignor hereby grants to Serendipity the exclusive right to display and sell the consigned item(s) according to the terms and conditions listed below.

Serendipity will evaluate consigned item(s) on an individual basis, according to market value, age (all wedding gowns must be less than 3 years old) and condition. We will not take any items that have damage or stains.

The Consignor is entitled to 40 percent of the sale price and will receive payment within 30 business days of the sale.

Items are consigned for up to 6 months, after which, Serendipity will contact the Consignor for instructions regarding alternative options for selling or returning consigned item(s).

Serendipity represents and warrants that they shall maintain insurance coverage sufficient for the above-mentioned compensation. Serendipity will not be responsible for wear to the consigned garments in the normal course of trying them on in our store.
